President's Message

I attended the Leonora Art Prize at the Jim Epis Building and was very proud to see the first prize awarded to our local Menzies artist, Simon Poole. The art on display was excellent, and the event was well-attended by a large crowd.

On 1 June, I attended the Menzies Cyclclassic dinner and had the honour of presenting the winners' jerseys. It was a great night with a well-attended crowd and a wonderful meal provided by Laurie's Café. The attendees praised the meal highly. Despite the challenging headwind, the hard work of the riders was evident as they crossed the finish line.

Special thanks to all the volunteers and shire staff members for their efforts in getting the Cyclclassic event ready. The sausage sizzle and Indonesian food stalls served delicious food that received great reviews.

I also attended the Leonora Cyclclassic presentation. As the wind subsided, we experienced rain, adding to the challenges for the cyclists. Despite this, their spirits remained high during the presentations. Congratulations to all the winners.

On the first Wednesday of every month, the CEO of Shire of Menzies, Glenda Teede, will be available to meet with community members to discuss any concerns that the council has influence over.

This could be an idea that has been churning around for a while and which hasn't quite had an outlet. It might be a message to the council as to how to better influence economic development.

Meetings run from 9am to 12 noon in 15-minute blocks, every first Wednesday of the month. They will be held at the Shire of Menzies Administration building at Lot 124 Shenton St, Menzies.

MENZIES

Menzies, July 3.

Quite a gloom was cast over the town on Tuesday morning when it became known that Miss Molly Smith, assistant teacher at the local school, had met with severe burning injuries. Miss Smith was giving a lesson to the infant class and was standing in front of a fire in an open fireplace when by some means her clothing became ignited and almost instantly was in flames. A boy named Cyril Templeman rushed to Mr. Williams, the head master, whose room is at the extreme end of the building, and gave the alarm. When Mr. Williams reached the class room he could not see Miss Smith, but found her near the wall in the adjoining room. She was enveloped in flames. He immediately grasped some flags and other material which he wrapped around her and thus extinguished the flames. He immediately sent for Dr. Clark and Matron Motley, who were speedily in attendance and rendered instant assistance. Miss Smith was removed to the hospital, when on examination the serious nature of her injuries was seen, and despite all that medical skill and careful nursing could do she passed away on Thursday morning.

An inquiry was opened on Thursday afternoon at the Court-house before Mr. C. N. Spargo, acting coroner.

Cyril Templeman, nine years of age, stated that Miss Smith was standing in front of the fire, reading the lesson to the children, when they noticed that her dress was on fire and called out to her. She commenced to try to beat it out with her hands and he ran to the head teacher and gave the alarm.

Mr. Williams, the head master, stated that when he ran into Miss Smith's room he could not see her there, but found her standing against the wall in the adjoining room. He immediately grasped some Union Jacks and wrapped them around her, eventually getting the fire out.

Dr. Clark stated that on examination he found severe injuries from burns spread over the whole surface of the body. Her condition was very low. On Wednesday she rallied slightly but towards Thursday morning she collapsed and passed away from acute coma, following acute nephritis, supervening on the shock and destruction of the large area of skin surface.

A verdict was returned in accordance with the medical testimony, no blame being attachable to anyone. A rider was added that the Education Department's attention be drawn to the desirability of guards being placed in front of open fire places, especially in infants' class rooms, as a precautionary measure against accidents.

The deceased young lady had only been residing in Menzies a few months, but by her kindly and genial manner had won the esteem of all classes of the community, who deeply mourn her demise. The deepest sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents and sister, who were present before their loved one passed away.

Grave Tales – Menzies, submitted by Eastern Goldfields Historical Society

John R. Cunningham died the 15th September 1908, aged 48. Mr Cunningham was a resident of Menzies for about 13 years during which time he carried on a plumbing business, while devoting time to prospecting the district.

Cunningham contracted a severe cold and died from pneumonia. Erected at his grave site is one a galvanised sheet metal memorial and an inscribed marble headstone (installed later).

There is some confusion on his headstone as to his age, recorded as 44, however newspaper reports of the time and Births Deaths & Marriages WA have his aged 48.

Menzies is known for its rare examples of distinctive galvanised sheet metal grave structures made from locally available materials. The galvanised grave markers reveal dates between 1908 and 1923 but do not identify who is buried there.

Celebrating students' learning at Assembly.

What a joyous day it was! With community members, parents, students and teachers all coming together to acknowledge students' effort. Wanampi and Marlu students gave reports about what they had been learning at school.

Here are photos of the Assembly which include some of our award winners.

With Consumer Protection Senior Regional Officer Kevin Collard

Stay safe this winter: top tips to keep your home and family protected

The cooler weather has finally arrived and this usually means staying warm by using products like heaters, wheat/heat packs, hot water bottles and electric blankets, or even sitting near a cosy fire.

Consumer Protection is reminding people there are safety risks with many winter products and if not careful, they could pose a fire hazard to your home. Winter is also a time to be aware of mould in the home, as well as the safety of children's clothing, which can be flammable.

Smoke alarms are our first line of defence against fires – so it's vital the batteries are replaced annually, they are regularly tested, and alarms more than 10 years old are replaced.

Simple precautions such as checking for recalls on all products, following safety guidelines, and being vigilant about safety can go a long way in protecting your family and home.

Children are particularly vulnerable to burns and accidents, so it is crucial to keep them away from open flames and heaters. Their pyjamas and dressing gowns can be highly flammable so check the mandatory fire labelling to determine the fire risk rating. Also avoid loose fitting sleepwear and be cautious of PJs bought online that may not comply with Australian mandatory safety standards.

Gas heaters should be serviced by a licensed gas fitter at least every two years, or annually if the equipment is more than 10 years old. The gas fitter can check for issues such as blockages, overheating or burner problems or inadequate ventilation in the room. Never bring outdoor heaters inside the house.

If you are the kind of person who loves heating up their bed before jumping in, there are also some things to consider. Check your electric blanket for damage to cords and wires, always turn it off before going to sleep and avoid placing objects on your bed while it's on.

Use hot tap water, not boiling water, to fill up your hot water bottle and consider buying a new one every year as they can hide damage internally. Allow a heat or wheat pack to cool before reheating it and chuck it out if you smell burning.

Condensation that builds up on walls and windows can lead to mould and cause nasty health problems. Open windows each day to ventilate your home and scrub mould off hard surfaces using soapy water or vinegar – it must be physically removed to prevent regrowth.

Lastly, store matches and lighters in a safe place, out of reach of children and never leave them alone with any open flame like a fireplace or even candles.

By being proactive and making safety a top priority we can all enjoy a warm and cosy winter season free of harm this year.

Marvellous Menzies

While its population may have shrunk a hundredfold since its gold mining heyday, and it may now have one hotel instead of 13, the tiny WA town of Menzies still knows how to entertain a crowd!

These days though, instead of rowdy fortune hunters, the incoming crowd is a more sedate collection of grey nomads and adventurers looking to explore the area's fascinating history ... and its world-famous sculptures.

Amazingly, Menzie's extremely remote location – some 130 kilometres north of Kalgoorlie along the Goldfields Highway – has not prevented it from becoming a magnet for art lovers! In 2003, as part of the 50th anniversary celebrations of the Perth International Arts Festival, famed artist, Antony Gormley, decided to create the 'Inside Australia' exhibition ... and the rest is history.

There are now 51 sculptures – derived from laser scans of the inhabitants of Menzies – scattered over 10 square kilometres of the salt lake, Lake Ballard, which sits 50 kilometres west of town ... and they are a huge drawcard.

Before the sculptures though, it was gold which put Menzies on the map. The precious metal was first discovered in the area in 1894, and the town took off. The railway arrived in 1898 and, by the turn of the century, the population – which now stands at around 100 – had soared to 10,000. Signs of those glory days are everywhere, in the form of the town's grand gold rush architecture. The most prominent building is the Town Hall, which was built in 1896. For around a century though, its commanding clock tower stood without a clock after the vessel that was bringing the clock from England, the SS Oriziba, sunk near Rottne Island. The clock tower finally got its clock at the start of the new millennium.

Other interesting buildings include the old railway station which has now been earmarked for restoration; the old police station which is now a private residence; the old Post Office which is also now a private residence; the ruins of the old Well's Bakery; the old Railway Hotel, now known as Menzies Hotel; and the Old Lady Shenton Hotel, which is now home to the Visitor Centre.

As is often the case, another great place to get a sense of the history of the town is to visit the cemetery. Many of the graves here are occupied by typhoid victims.

Other attractions within striking distance of Menzies are Niagara Dam and Goongarrie National Park, and there are a number of fascinating ghost towns in the area including the 'living ghost town' of Kookynie, located 70 kilometres northeast of Menzies.

The dog-friendly Menzies Caravan Park is located adjacent to the Visitor Centre, and boasts 26 powered sites, a camp kitchen, and a dump point.

MENZIES

Menzies, July 23.

Peace Day was celebrated by the residents of Menzies and Yunndaga with great rejoicing. A close holiday was observed, and almost the entire population of both towns assembled at the Yunndaga Recreation Ground, where an excellent programme of sports was carried out. The children's events were full of interest. The representatives of each town joined each other in friendly rivalry for the various prizes. The flag races and the tug-of-war caused great excitement. Liberal prizes were distributed, and a general spirit of happiness was manifested. During the afternoon the children were provided with an abundance of refreshments, lollies, etc., whilst the needs of the adults were catered for in a most liberal manner, and reflected great credit upon the ladies and gentlemen of Yunndaga, who had charge of the arrangements. The Yunndaga Brass Band, under the baton of Mr. F. Hortle, discoursed excellent music throughout the afternoon. Adult events, consisting of a Sheffield handicap, maiden race, stepping competition, and throwing at the wicket, added to the pleasure of the gathering. The secretary and the committee worked like Trojans to ensure the pleasure of all present, and the whole arrangement came in for great praise. By the courtesy of the Railway Department a special train brought the residents of Yunndaga to Menzies for the evening celebrations, the Menzies Town Hall being packed by a most happy and appreciative audience. The chairman of the District Roads Board presided, and expressed their deep gratitude and thankfulness to Almighty God for the victorious peace they had that day celebrated. Mr. Geary, the newly appointed warden for the North Coolgardie goldfields, who was accorded a great reception, fittingly spoke upon the day they celebrated. During the evening the warden, on behalf of the Menzies residents, presented to the Menzies soldiers who had returned from active service an illuminated certificate, suitably framed, as an appreciation of their noble service. Matron Williams, who had just returned to the hospital after three and a half years' service at the fighting front, was welcomed by the chairman, who expressed the pleasure of the citizens at her safe return, and he conveyed the deep appreciation that they all felt for her noble and self-sacrificing service. They intended to place the name of Miss Williams on the Roll of Honour, and in the near future present to her an illuminated certificate. On rising to respond, the matron was given a most flattering reception. An excellent programme was provided by the following ladies and gentlemen:—Mrs. Richards, the Misses Lockard, Scott (2), Fennell and Harris; Messrs. Tunnington, Gillson, Les Carr, and Master Jack Callagher. The Yunndaga Band rendered items in excellent manner. The ladies' committee served a splendid supper, after which the hall was cleared, and dancing was indulged in until midnight. Mrs. Pope, with her usual ability, played the music, and Mr. J. Goldthorp was an efficient M.C.
